

A message from the Chief Investigators

Welcome to the 14 sites that have opened to recruitment so far and congratulations to the sites that have successfully recruited to date! We're so pleased to have you on board with this important study.

PARTIAL will address if partial nephrectomy is superior to radical nephrectomy in terms of preserving renal function, potential harms and costs. We are most interested in intermediate T1b tumours and small complex T1a tumours where there is genuine equipoise for either surgical intervention. There are no high-quality studies to address this question so we need your support. The internal pilot for the study ends on the 30th November 2023 and we're hoping to see a steady increase in recruitment. Please reach out if we can support in any way.

Professor Naeem Soomro and Professor Rakesh Heer

Study forum

We hope you'll join us for the PARTIAL Study Forum on 15th September 2023 at noon. It will be an informal opportunity for sites to connect and share local recruitment experience and strategy and for the trial management team to provide some support with troubleshooting/advice from a clinical and qualitative perspective. Pop by on Teams and say hello. It's a good opportunity to provide some informal feedback on recruitment, any barriers you are coming up against and also to ask us any questions.
